Summary of Conclusions

1. Principals, joined by the President for a portion of the meeting, received a briefing by the U.S. negotiating team on the progress of the U.S. diplomatic initiative, including the results of the September 8 meeting of the Foreign Ministers of Bosnia, Croatia and Serbia. They welcomed the significant progress made to date. They agreed that the NATO air strikes in response to the Bosnian Serb bombing of the Sarajevo marketplace had thus far given added impetus to the negotiations. While we would not rule out tactical pauses in the bombing, Principals reaffirmed the importance of continuing to demand full Bosnian Serb compliance with the UN/NATO conditions. ~~(C)~~

2. Principals agreed that, in light of Serbian President Milosevic's support for the peace process to date, the U.S. should support a 180-day extension of phase-one sanctions relief for the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia prior to the expiration of the current suspension on September 18. At the same time, they reaffirmed their previous decision that no other sanctions would be suspended until a Bosnia peace settlement had been signed. (Action: USUN) ~~(C)~~

3. Principals noted that, if further diplomatic progress were made toward a Bosnia settlement, a decision would be needed soon on the timing and venue of an international conference, with the participation of the three Balkan Presidents, to resolve the most contentious issues. ~~(S)~~

4. Principals agreed that, given Italy's importance to the conduct of military operations in Bosnia both now and following a settlement, the U.S. should make a renewed effort to involve the Italians more closely in consultations on our diplomatic efforts. While we would not reopen the agreement among Contact Group members that the next two Contact Group meetings (in Geneva and Moscow) be restricted to the original five members plus EU negotiator Bildt, we would urge that the subsequent expanded meeting in Rome become the model for all further consultative meetings. We should favor the most inclusive participation possible, including other Allies (especially Canada and Spain) as well as representatives of the OIC. (Action: State) ~~(C)~~
