Summary of Conclusions

1. Principals discussed the pros and cons of a U.S. venue for the planned proximity talks that would be convened approximately two weeks following the conclusion of a country-wide ceasefire in Bosnia. They deferred a final decision until their October 4 meeting. In the interim, they requested that State and the U.S. negotiating team develop options for venues other than the Washington and New York areas, as well as ideas for alternative events in European capitals and Moscow that could offset concerns of Contact Group partners about a U.S. venue. ~~(S)~~

2. Principals discussed whether there should be any monitoring of the impending ceasefire and agreed to review this issue and the status of NATO implementation planning at their next meeting.
